Senior Managing Director and Head of Global Business Development, Benefit Street Partners, New York

Allison Davi joined Benefit Street Partners (BSP) in 2012 and serves as a member of the firm's Executive Committee. She oversees business development, legal, ESG, PR and portfolio analytics, and plays a key role in setting BSP's strategic direction, including acquisitions and integrations. Her team of roughly 80 professionals is primarily based in New York and London, with additional members across APAC, continental Europe, and the Middle East. Allison's main areas of focus are firm strategy, M&A, and initiatives that enhance the investor experience. She created BSP's portfolio analytics function to improve the quality and timeliness of data provided to LPs, launched the firm's ESG and D&I committees, and established BSP's New Product Committee to encourage collaboration and alignment around new fund launches. She also introduced management coaching and maternity leave coaching programs to support BSP's women employees and strengthen the firm's culture. Before joining BSP, Allison worked in private equity on the investment side at CCMP Capital and began her career in investment banking at Lehman Brothers. She is a founding member of Women in Private Credit, where she leads the education pillar and launched the Private Credit Educational Summit, a bi-annual event designed to educate LPs on key private credit topics. Allison is also an active community leader, serving as a member of the Central Park Conservancy and Playground Partners, and as a trustee of The Peddie School, her alma mater, where she attended on a full scholarship and sits on the Investment Committee for the school's endowment. She holds a BS in Business Administration from Georgetown University.
